South Viets Reoccupy Fallen Base Bastogne

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces reoccupied Fire Base Bastogne 12 miles west of Hue today after 36 hours of fierce fighting and B52 saturation strikes, field reports said.

The base fell to the North Vietnamese April 28. The counterattack that retook it three days by South Vietnamese forces who in six weeks of setbacks had retreated 30 miles below the demilitarized zone and given up the provincial Capital of Quang Tri City

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from the northern front that South Vietnamese infantrymen were only a stone's throw from another important fire base called Checkmate on a hill overlooking Bastogne.

In the central highlands, North was the second on the northern front in Vietnamese forces made fresh probes during the night of the defenses of Kontum City, and sources said they believed them to be preliminary to an all-out assault.

On the southern front, enemy forces cut the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway 25 miles northwest of the South Vietnamese capital, and heavy fighting was reported near Trang Bang, a district town.

North Vietnamese gunners rained 2,500 artillery, rocket and mortar shells on An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon, continuing a 61/2-week old siege, and light ground fighting was reported. The North Vietnamese were reported still holding sections of the northern part of the city.

The South Vietnamese command said the drive to Fire Base Bastogne was part of a plan to enlarge defense lines around Hue.

The drive to Bastogne and Checkmate was made by 2,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen. Helicopters took some of them to the ridge lines. Others advanced on foot behind a shield of artillery and strikes by U.S. B52 bombers and fighterbombers.

In Cambodia, government troops abandoned one of their last positions near the South Vietnamese border in the southern portion of Takeo Province, the military command reported.

Supreme Court's Ruling Supports Amish Beliefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Amish people won unanimously today in the Supreme Court an exemption from state laws compelling them to continue their schooling beyond the eighth grade.

Ruling in a case from Wisconsin, the court said compulsory formal education after the eighth grade would gravely endanger-if not destroy-the free exercise of their religious beliefs.

The Amish, descendants of 18th century Swiss Anabaptists, believe a high school education is a deterrent to salvation in that it involves worldly learning. They and the closely related Old Order Mennonites live in 19 states. Wisconsin was one of nine in which they have been subjected to prosecution for refusing to send their children to high school.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who delivered the opinion, said, "However strong the state's interest in universal compulsory education, it is by no means absolute to the exclusion or subordination of all other interests.

In other actions today, the court:

-Rejected an appeal from a lower court ruling that requires Norfolk, Va., to provide free bus service to some 24,000 children assigned under desegregation plans to schools more than walking distance from their homes.

-Agreed to decide whether a federal law against extortion can be used against union members who use violent tactics against their employers in hopes of gaining a better union contract.

-Rejected an appeal by State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan and 10 police officers facing trial resulting from the 1969 raid slayings of Black Panther leaders Fred Hampton and Mark Clarke in Chicago.

-Ruled that a new subcontractor is required to recognize and bargain with a labor union certified as bargaining agent with the former employer of his workers.

Burger said states undoubtedly have a responsibility of imposing regulations to further the education of its citizens. But, he went on, this interest must be measured against legitimate claims to the free exercise of religion

Almost 300 years of consistent religious practice and the unchallenged testimony of experts in education and religious history support the Amish position that their religion would be threatened by forced higher education.

"A way of life that is odd or even erratic but interferes with no rights or interests of others is not to be condemned because it is different." Burger said.

Four Persons Die In Highway Crash

LINCOLN — A tragic head-on collision claimed the lives of four Kansas Citians about one mile south of the Highway 52 junction on south Highway 65 at 4:45 p.m.

Killed were Wilbur Willard, 47, his wife, Rose, 44, and their two daughters, Rhonda, 11, and Sharon, 14, all of Kansas City, Kan. They were riding in a 1964 Ford pickup driven north by Willard.

According to the highway patrol the accident occurred as Willard apparently applied the brakes of his truck after rounding a curve in the road. Witnesses said the truck went out of control, swerved into the southbound lane and struck a 1965 tractor-trailer unit driven south by Hanley Clements, 59, of Pocahontas, Ark.

The patrol reported Mrs. Willard and her two daughters were killed instantly by the force of the impact. They were thrown from the pickup onto the highway. Willard died at Bothwell Hospital about 10:45 p.m. Sunday from extensive injuries after undergoing surgery

The force of the impact literally tore the Willard pickup apart. The bodies of Mrs. Willard and her two daughters were about 50 feet from the spot where the remains of the pickup truck came to rest.

The impact of the collision forced the truck to jacknife across the highway, the patrol said, and then turn over on its right side. Immediately after the truck overturned, it was struck on the top of the cab by a northbound 1967 Chevrolet driven by Leo Harlod, 37, of Gladstone

Clements was pinned by the legs in an upsidedown position between the dashboard and the crushed top of the truck. He suffered fractures and multiple injuries and was taken to Bothwell Hospital, Sedalia, by ambulance, where he was reported in serious condition at noon Monday. Harlod escaped unhurt, although his car was extensively damaged

The bodies were taken from the scene to the Fred Davis and Son Funeral Home. Lincoln, and the Fox Funeral Home, Cole Camp.

Con Game Couple Is Arrested

The Chamber of Commerce Fraud Alert system over the weekend resulted in the arrest of an Edwards, Mo., couple who were arraigned in Magistrate Court Monday morning on charges of operating a confidence game.

Taken into custody by local authorities were Thomas S. Rugger, 37, and his wife, Mary, 33, who was also identified as Mary Greene and Linda Davis, according to Sheriff Emmett Fairfax.

According to Fairfax, the woman purchased merchandise at the Cash Hardware Store in the State Fair Shopping Center April 15 and paid for it with a $39

Two days later, her husband went to the store and allegedly asked for a refund on the merchandise. He was paid in cash and the check later was found to be bogus, the complaint against the couple alleges, Fairfax said.

Rugger was taken into custody by Sedalia police following a Fraud Alert call from the Kroger Family Center. He was held for investigation and turned over to sheriff's

By BOB SHEUE

Democrat-Capital Staff Writer On April 4, voters in the Sedalia school district 200 defeated a proposal to increase the school tax levy 65-cents to $3.62 per $100 assessed valuation. A light voter turnout saw the measure downed by about 500 votes. Now six weeks later, the Sedalia board of education, realizing the urgent need for the levy increase, has once again found it necessary to bring the issue up for a vote

There are several factors involved in the vote. They concern crowded classrooms, accreditation, regaining AAA status for Sedalia schools, establishing kindergarten and vocational-technical programs, and augmenting the cooperative learning disability program at the Children's Therapy Center. All hinge on passage of the levy.

But the biggest factor in the minds of the voters rests in the pocketbook. Why 65-cents? Was the public really deceived into believing no levy increase would be needed to operate the new junior high school? Is so much money necessary in view of the teacher's reserve fund?

Sedalia Ranks Lowest

First, it is important to place the Sedalia situation in perspective with the rest of the state. In reality, the current $2.97 levy is years behind other communities of comparable or even smaller size. For instance, Marshall has a $3.95 levy, Warrensburg $4.58, Clinton $4.18; Rolla and Columbia $4.40, Mexico and Moberly $4.15, Fulton $4, Lexington $3.99, Hannibal $3.86, Lebanon $3.85 and so the list goes.

In fact, of the 70 cities in Missouri with populations of more than 5,000, Sedalia has the lowest levy rate. When you consider the average operating levy in the state is $4.22, you can begin to understand how fortunate local taxpayers have been in this regard. Even with the levy increase to $3.62, Sedalia will still fall short by 60-cents of the average community effort in Missouri.

Clearing Muddied Waters On Levy—Editorial, P. 8

Some people have voiced the opinion that a small hike in the levy isn't objectionable to them, but that a 65-cent increase is. School board officials and school administrators have given detailed explanations as to why 65-cents is the minimum levy increase necessary to operate the junior high school as it should be, as well as improve overcrowded conditions at Smith-Cotton and provide kindergarten

Where The Money Goes

The new levy, augmented by state funds totaling $66,360 when the levy exceeds $3.50, would generate roughly $265,000 for operating and maintenance expenses. The bulk of that amount would go into additional teacher salaries for the junior high school to bring class size there to acceptable levels, additional Smith-Cotton faculty salaries to reduce class sizes at the high school, kindergarten teacher salaries for the much-needed kindergarten program, and salaries for the school principal, guidance counselor, and secretary. In effect then, the bulk of the levy increase, or about $249,000 of the $265,000 generated by tax assessments, would go to the creation of 29 new teaching and administrative jobs in the community.

A second major item of expense involves salaries for five custodians, one matron and two system-wide maintenance men, or creation of another eight new jobs at more than

The third major expense is plant operation, or simply paying the bills for water, heat, electricity, insurance and telephones, purchasing janitorial supplies and providing retirement and Social Security expenses as required by state law. That third expense is roughly $41,500

All three expenses total about $332,000 which is lessened through state aid of $66,360, making the taxpayer cost, as mentioned earlier, $265,000 in round figures. Again, the bulk of that money would create about 37 news jobs in the community. School officials insist it would be literally impossible to operate the junior high and bring senior high class levels to an acceptable level for any less.

False Claims?

What about the claim by some that they were told the building bonds would finance operation and maintenance of

First, building bonds are just that and nothing else. They simply financially insure construction of the physical plant. The recorded truth of the matter is that no editorial or promotional efforts during the March, 1970 campaign to gain voter acceptance for the $1.9 million junior high school building bond included the promise that operating expenses would be paid through building bond monies. In fact, Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools, informed area civic clubs at the time of that campaign that an increase in the school levy would be necessary to operate and maintain the junior high.

Others have asked why the levy issue wasn't brought up at the time of the building bond issue

The obvious answer is that taxpayers' money would have been unused for two years, from the time the building bonds

Miller Defends Antiwar Handling

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Vern Miller has defended his handling of antiwar demonstrations in Lawrence last week and gained former Gov. Alf Landon's support—and perhaps his vote-after being criticized by E. Laurence Chalmers, University of Kansas chancellor.

"I believe when violations of the law occur in front of law enforcement officers, they are obligated to take action," said Miller, who led a sweep that resulted in 27 arrests.

"I personally witnessed violations of the law, and when it became obvious that no attempts were being made to arrest, I ordered the arrests."

Chalmers had said Miller's trip to Lawrence and his actions there undermined "three days and nights of superb law enforcement efforts" by local officials.

"Miller was not called to Lawrence by local law enforcement agencies, the university or the highway patrol," said Chalmers. "The fact is that arrests were being made well be-

Chalmers indicated he thought Miller's remarks might have been prompted by his desire for reelection. The Wichita Democrat announced Friday night he would seek a second term as attorney general.

Nixon Has Lead on Busing Issue

By LOUIS HARRIS

When asked to rate the major candidates for President on their views toward school busing to achieve racial balance, 30 per cent of the public agrees with President Nixon, 23 per cent with George Wallace, and 14 per cent with Hubert Humphrey. For Wallace, who is now up to 17 per cent as a potential third-party candidate, his score on the busing issue may be the forerunner of further gains.

Wallace has called for a Constitutional amendment outlawing busing of school children to achieve racial balance. President Nixon has rejected an amendment to the Constitution, but favors a moratorium of two years in enforcement of court-ordered busing during which black schools would be upgraded with Federal help. Sen. Humphrey first endorsed President Nixon's position and then, 48 hours later, changed his mind.

A Harris Survey recently asked a nationwide cross section of 2,973 households:

"If you had to choose, which one man would you most agree with on his stand on busing school children to achieve racial balance - Richard Nixon, Hubert Humphrey, or George Wallace?

Most Agree With on Busing

	Nixon %	Wallace %	Humphrey %	Sure %
Nationwide	30	23	14	33
East	32	14	18	36
Midwest	31	22	13	34
South	24	39	11	26
West	34	15	16	35
Black	16	8	40	36
White	32	26	11	31
Union members	27	26	15	32
Although Wallac

the South (rising to 54 per cent agreement in the Deep South), he is obviously crowding President Nixon on the issue among whites and among union members. Humphrey's less than unequivocal stand on busing has left him with less than normal support from blacks on this issue. He appears to have reaped the worst of all worlds by his backing and filling on the busing question.

The basic lineup of the public on the political meaning of the busing issue did not alter appreciably when the identity of the potential Democratic candidate was changed.

The busing issue works most intensively in generating voter preferences for Gov. Wallace. The correlation is illustrated by the following results:

10	te for a resid	ac iii
	Nixon	Humphrey	Wallace
	%	%	%
On busing agree with:
Nixon	52	17	9
Wallace	16	13	73
Humphrey	3	35	2
Not sure	29	35	16
Nixon's weakness on	the busing	issue is illustra	ted by the fact that 1-in-8 of his supporters prefer Wallace's position, while no more than a bare majority like his stand the best. Sen. Humphrey is in even worse shape, with 17 per cent of his backers preferring the Nixon position and another 13 per cent the Wallace stand on busing. Scarcely more than 1-in-3 Humphrey voters agree with his approach on busing. By contrast, a massive 73 per cent of Wallace's supporters agree with him on the busing issue.

One of the ironies of the busing issue is that the proportion of Americans who nonetheless say they still favor desegregation of the public school system remains a 58-32 per cent majority, even though people also oppose busing by 79-14 per cent.

In 1968, George Wallace's vote rose to a high of 21 per cent as a third-party candidate, closely approximating the 22 per cent he achieves among people opposed to desegregation of the schools. But then a reaction set in against Wallace and he dropped to 13 per cent in three weeks.

The racial issue is like an elastic band and when there appears to be overkill in one direction or the other, the public snaps back in the other direction.

This spring's uproar over school busing could produce a counter reaction by voting time next November. But at the moment, Gov. Wallace is making the most of it. c. 1972 Chicago Tribune

Economic Commissions Survive Initial Ordeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pay Board and Price Commission have survived a six-month shaking-out and are facing the future with little anticipation of major policy changes.

Officials say they're still determined to work themselves out of their jobs and return to an uncontrolled economy, probably sometime next year.

For now, the Price Commission intends to concentrate on strict enforcement of its limitation on profit margins, and the Pay Board, minus four of its labor members and four of its business members, has turned from making rules to whittling down a large backlog of pay Today marks exactly nine months since President Nixon froze wages and prices, and roughly six months since that 90-day freeze was replaced by a second phase of more-flexible controls.

Administration spokesmen say there's no proof they can't get inflation down to Nixon's goal of between 2 and 3 per cent by December. But most private economists, and even the Price Commission's own forecasters, predict the rate will be running at something a little higher than 3 per cent by yearend.

In any case, those economic returns won't be in until months after next November's presidential election returns, and for the time being the trend is in Nixon's direction.

In general, price increases seem to be winding down after jumping up when the freeze ended. But the freeze created grievances that led to problems

Unions that once had called for price controls were enraged when the administration denied them pay raises written into their labor contracts. Some businessmen cried that they faced bankruptcy because their prices couldn't go up. Mrs. W. N. Luther:

Recent ads that have appeared against a better school system for Sedalia using your name represent the most selfish and backward thinking in our community today.

The amount of taxes a person pays on property is based on assessed valuation which is supposed to be approximately 30% of present market value. A recent ad gave the amount of increased taxes a person with $10,000 assessed valuation would pay as if this was the average property assessment in Sedalia. Actually, the average assessment in Sedalia is probably half that amount or less. A $10,000 assessed valuation would mean that the house would have a present market value of around $34,000. Are you residing in a $34,000 home out there on East Fifth, Mrs. Luther? Or was the ad referring to what the increased taxes would amount to for a handful of wealthier Sedalia and Pettis County property owners?

There are many "frills" which a progressive community can do without. An adequate school system is not one of these "frills".

Gives Testimony On Needs of Aged

"Programs to meet the problems of the aged are scattered through so many departments of government at present that if they could all be co-ordinated under one Department of Aging, I believe, a far more effective job could be done.

This was one of the recommendations of Major Marjorie Weber, commanding officer of The Salvation Army in Sedalia, when she testified before a congressional committee on aging Friday in Kansas City. Congressman William J. Randall was the committee chairman.

Major Weber further pointed out that in 1961 at the first White House Conference on Aging, about 500 recommendations were made. "In the 10 years that followed, only a handful of those recommendations were acted upon," she told the committee. Now the second White House Conference on Aging has been held and hundreds more recommendations have been made," Major Weber said. "A great deal of time and money have been spent in talking about the problems that exist and now it is time to act upon the recommendations that have been made," she said.

Major Weber was the area delegate to the second White House Conference on Aging and is a member of the Sedalia Council on Aging.

She also suggested that the The Older

Firebomb Incident Reported

A fire bombing incident and various reports of break-ins and thefts occupied Sedalia police Saturday and Sunday.

At 2:42 p.m. Sunday Louis Demand. Route 1, Smithton, told police that while he was eating at the Wheel-Inn. Broadway and Limit, someone threw a fire bomb under the right front wheel of his car. The tire melted and blew out, he said. Attempts are being made to determine who was responsible for the incident. Damage was estimated at $40.

Peggy Owens, Route 2, a customer at Kenney's Coin-O-Matic No. 1, 1716 West Ninth, reported at 3:12 p.m. Sunday that she saw two boys attempting to force two soap dispensing machines and a cigarette machine open at the automatic laundry. She said the boys, apparently between the ages of 10 and 12, fled on bicycles when she arrived.

She was not sure she would be able to identify them, she said. The report did not indicate if any money had been taken. A break-in at the Derby Service Station.

Broadway and Kentucky, was reported at 2:24 a.m. Monday by A. J. Kasmos, no address given. Police found that a window had been broken out by a rock and that $75 in cash had been stolen from the station.

At 9:22 a.m. Sunday police were told that four wire hubcaps, valued at $200, were stolen off a 1968 Chevrolet belonging to Patricia Lee Bradshaw, 2505 Kay Ave. The theft occurred sometime between 6 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday while the car was parked at the Bradshaw address, police were told.

Donna McNulty, Independence, reported the loss of her purse, keys, some cash and valuable papers at 1:38 p.m. Sunday. The police report said the items were valued at $20 but gave no other details.

American Act which expires June 30 be extended or made permanent and the House of Representatives appoint a special committee on aging. "Congressman Randall appreciated this suggestion and he said his committee would probably recommend that the House of Representatives appoint a special committee on aging," Major Weber said. She said the committee, which consisted of about 10 persons including Congressmen and their aides, heard testimony from personnel from state offices of aging from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska, besides heads of private organizations serving the aged.

Major Weber said the hearing was the first of the several the committee will hold across the nation to gather information on the aged in rural and small communities The committee has completed its hearing on the aged in urban areas, she said.

In her 10-page testimony, Major Weber mentioned many areas of concern for the aged of the area.

She said while there are agencies that older persons can turn to for help, the aged from among "the handicapped, poor, those from minority groups ... many times do not know where to look for information or may even be too shy or timid to ask." Therefore she suggested that a better means of making the elderly aware of the available services be devised.

She said programs should be devised to relieve the aged of loneliness and said she is hopeful The Salvation Army can open a Senior Drop-In Center in Sedalia in the downtown area which would be staffed by senior citizens.

"The churches need to be more aware and alert to the spiritual well being of all aged people, not just those affiliated with their church," she suggested.

Other need areas Major Weber testified on included nutrition and transportation. She said more nursing homes are needed. especially "for the elderly poor." She also suggested that several elderly people would benefit from a meals-on-wheels program.

Youth Has Begun His Jail Sentence

Michael Dwain Feeback, 2500 South Quincy, charged last year with stealing merchandise valued at more than $50, Monday began serving a six-months jail sentence after completing his current term of school at William Jewell College.

Feeback was taken into custody last October following an incident at Broadway and Kentucky in which merchandise was allegedly taken from a Rival Manufacturing Co. truck while the vehicle's driver was making a telphone call.

After changing his plea from innocent to guilty in Circuit Court, Judge Frank Meyer set Feeback's sentence at six months last December and gave him credit for time already served in the jail. However, the judge ruled that the "execution of the balance of the sentence be stayed until the defendent completes his present semester" at the college.

His bond was maintained at $1,500, court records show, while Feeback was in college.

were approved, until the present time when the need for operating and maintenance funds has become a reality. Dr. Norris has said it would not be fair to tax people two years and then deliver no services.

Reserve Fund Deceptive

What about the teacher's reserve fund? Why can't the money in it be used to help defray costs of the levy increase and ease the taxpayers burden?

First, state law requires that funds in the teacher reserve fund be used specifically for teacher salaries. This is due in part by the fact that a generous amount of the fund comes from state monies.

Dr. Norris explained that the size of the reserve fluctuates greatly, because state aid is received the first of October, January and April, with all local tax funds presented in January. This creates a situation where the great majority of payroll funds is in the reserve fund after January first. But that reserve must meet a school district monthly payroll of about $200,000 until October, with the exception of the state payment in April. Norris emphasized that at some times in the year the size of the reserve fund does indeed look impressive, but that at other times, it is almost nil. He said if it weren't for the proper operation of the reserve fund, teacher salaries would not be able to be paid certain months.

'Frills' Are Necessary

Still others have expressed resentment of the fact that the new junior high includes a swimming pool, carpeting and air conditioning Norris explained that the swimming pool would provide a much-needed expansion in the physical education curriculum in the school system. He described it as the type of activity that everyone could enjoy and compared its usefulness to a driver's education course in teaching children how to swim safely. A criticism voiced in opposition to the levy is that Sedalians cannot afford to increase their taxes for "frills." intimating that such items would be paid for with the 65-cent levy increase. Building bond monies approved more than two years ago paid for such facilities. Norris said the carpeting was necessary and desirable because it required less maintenance than waxed tile and greatly reduced hallway and class noise in the unique "open" structure of the junior high's movable partitions. The air conditioning was called a must by Norris because summer courses were planned for the building, and that May, September, and sometimes October were usually extremely uncomfortable for classroom purposes.

What the 65-cent levy boils down to is payment from the community to provide a well-staffed junior high, reduced high school class sizes, kindergarten, vocational-technical courses, expansion of the rehabilitation program, maintenance of North Central accreditation and regained AAA status for the school system.

School Strike Called

LONDON (AP) — Teen-age banner of pupil power and called a strike for Wednesday in London's schools

Among their demands: no more staying after school, no more censorship of school magazines, no more school uniforms and free milk every day.

The Schools Action Union, which is known to have links with several grown-up leftist groups, said if the one-day strike in London is successful, a nationwide pupil walkout will be their next move.

Strike leaders claimed pupils from at least 72 of London's 224 schools will take the day off on "Red Wednesday." They hope about 10,000 will rally in Trafalgar Square and march on County Hall, the administrative seat of London.

About 100 youths between 12 and 18 met Sunday at a planning session in a curtained room in a London back street. Most wore Mao badges and said they were Marxists. Police detectives questioned several of the leaders later.

Counsels Wichita Graduates

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The graduating class at Wichita State University has been counseled to temper the need for altering the status quo in government with patience.

"I should be our goal to break the status quo and eliminate inequities in all forms of daily living," Gov. Robert Docking said at commencement exercises Sunday.

"We cannot expect the struggle to be won overnight," he said. "Anytime the task of reform is begun, there is a struggle between the reforms and those who benefit from special arrangements provided by the status quo.

Docking said he was optimistic though, saying "progress in the future will occur because we will it."

He said it is up to the public official to face the problems and up to the citizens to support those public officials who do so

Docking added, "It is up to you who are graduating this year to help us, to give us the fresh prespective, the enthusiasm and energy that are

Machine guns poke from the multi-tiered pavilions of the Summer Palace. American advisers to one division have been bedded down in the palace quarters once reserved for the emperor's favorite concubines.

The Forbidden City, an early 19th century imitation of Peking's Imperial City, barely survived the fighting of the 1968 Tet Offensive. Another major battle will probably complete the destruction of this historic site symbolizing the essence of precolonial free Vietnam.

The road from the city to the Valley of the Tombs along the Perfume River is churned up by the tracks of huge 175mm guns that speed out on artillery raids against Communist troops in the A Shau Valley.

To: Mrs. Virginia Luther — YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS!!

"Dear Citizen - Some of my little friends say there is no need for better schools in Sedalia. . .

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong!! They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds."

Is it possible that they do not comprehend something so basic as qality education for our children?

Using $10,000 as a sample tax valuation is a good way to scare the taxpayer, Virginia, but the FACT is that the average tax valuation in Sedalia is $2,900. Less than 50 of 9000 homes have a valuation of $10,000. So, Virginia, let's be honest with our children. For 5° per day the average taxpayer can send 1 or 7 children to a quality school with the passage of the levy.

Incidentally, Virginia, your anti-tax levy expenditures have probably cost more than the school levy would cost you for the next 35 YEARS!!!

Yes, Virginia, there is a need for good education. it exists as certainly as love, and generosity and devotion to children exists! And you know that they abound and give to life its' highest beauty and joy.

And by the way, Virginia, let's not mislead the people. You know the physical design of the Junior High is not the issue!!

The issues are:

- KINDERGARTENS
- SPECIAL EDUCATION
- VOCATIONAL TRAINING
- TRIPLE "A" RATING
- SMALLER CLASSES

Virginia, if you give a child a good education, not the strongest man, not even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived can take it away.

And so, Virginia, the same gift of love and generosity personified by Santa Claus can be given to our children tomorrow. . .if you will vote yes, for the school levy.

Prospects for next year are increasingly dominating the corn market. With near-normal weather, the 1972 crop would about equal expected needs for domestic use and exports during 1972-73. Any substantial excess would be put under pricesupport loans, thus holding prices near the support level.

If this year's corn production falls short of market needs, the deficit will be made up by withdrawing 1971 corn that will be under resale loans. Perhaps 500 million bushels could be obtained from this source, with prices 10 to 15 cents above the support level. The relatively high futures prices for the 1972 corn crop suggest that some persons are expecting the pricesupport loan rate to be raised.

Farming Export Dollars Soaring This Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) - Although dock strikes reduced the quantity of some shipments, the dollar value of U.S. farm exports soared to a record-high rate during the first nine months of the current fiscal year, the Agriculture Department said today.

Also, preliminary reports indicate, farm exports in April were up from the month a year earlier, thus adding more impetus to the trend.

If further dock tie-ups can be averted, the total for the fiscal year ending June 30 could be near or more than the record $7.8 billion for farm exports in 1970-71, officials say

The value of shipments during the period begun last July 1 through March was $5.97 billion, up 1 per cent from the record pace a year earlier, the Foreign Agricultural Service said in a report.

A spokesman said the April sales totaled about $700 million. up from $634 million during the month last year.

The over-all gain stemmed from increases in cotton, tobacco, sovbeans, sovbean meal, dairy products, cattle hides, fruits, nuts and vegetables, the report said.

Declines in value were reported for grains, flaxseed, soybean oil, alfalfa meal and lard. Higher prices per unit of measure accounted for the over-all value increase.

The report was written by Dewain H. Rahe, a foreign trade specialist in the Economic Research Service, who concentrated only on specific changes in the export picture during the first nine months of the fiscal year.

By groups of commodities, Rahe's report included the following values of exports during the July-March period:

Livestock and animal products $743 million, up 10 per cent from a year earlier; grain and grain products $1,827,000,000 down 14 per cent; oilseed and oilseed products $1,673,000,000 up 8 per cent; and other items, including cotton, tobacco and fruit $1,724,000,000 up 12 per West coast ports were shut down from last July 1 until Oct. 6 and again from Jan. 17 through Feb. 20 this year. Some Gulf and Atlantic ports also were tied up by strikes during the period.

Rahe said the stoppages helped reduce grain exports, particularly wheat shipments to Japan which were down 34 per cent from the previous year. Wheat sales during the nine-month period totaled 441 million bushels worth $748 million, compared with 558 million bushels worth $917 million a year earlier. Feed grains totaled 14.5 million tons, down 10 per cent from July-March a year earlier. Their value was put at $789 million compared with $919 million earlier.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather slowed field work in the Corn Belt and helped push the nation's April farm labor inventory down four per cent from a year earlier, says the Agriculture Department.

An estimated 4,332,000 persons worked on farms during the April 23-29 survey week, the department said in a report. These included 3,308,800 farm operators and other unpaid family members and 1,023,000 hired workers

The April total, although below a year earlier when corn planting advanced during a dry spell, was still up 11 per cent from the March survey, the department said

WASHINGTON (AP) Maple Syrup lovers can expect a bigger supply for their pancakes this year, says the Agriculture Department.

Production is expected to be 1.1 million gallons, a 14 per cent increase from 1971 but still one per cent shy of the 1970 output, says the Crop Reporting Vermont and New York are each expected to produce 340 million gallons this year, up from 240 million and 305 million, respectively, from 1971, officials said.

Question Workman In Fire

OSAKA, Japan (AP) - Police questioned a workman today on suspicion he may have carelessly dropped a lighted cigarette and touched off the fire that killed 117 persons in a seventh-floor cabaret Saturday

Keiji Kawashima, 36, was doing electrical work on the third floor of the department store in which the night club was located when the fire broke out on the same floor, police said. He and four other workmen escaped injury.

But about 170 persons at the Play Town cabaret upstairs were trapped in smoke when the flames below cut off the electricity, stopping the elevators. Officers said the door to the emergency stairs was locked.

"After the fire broke out, everyone was shouting escape," recounted an injured cabaret girl from her hospital bed. "I don't remember thinking of anything but escape. There was a lot of smoke, choking every-

The flames never reached the cabaret, but authorities found the bodies of 96 hostesses and customers dead of asphyxiation. Twenty persons were killed falling or jumping from the windows or from the roof one story above, and another cabaret girl died Sunday of injuries. Twenty-eight others were injured, 10 of them seriously, authorities reported.

The fire was Japan's worst since 1951, when 107 persons died in a Yokohama railroad station

Vote NO INCREASE on School Levy

Tomorrow you vote on the school levy.

Don't be misled by the sob story, "A no vote is a vote against children." A no vote indicates one thing only. You are tired of being taxed. Tired of being misled. Tired of being kidded. And you have resolved that from here on in, either you get the facts and all of them before you vote on a bond issue. or the people live with what you were promised.

It is nice for people who signed last Thursday's ad to be for the increase. Some don't pay any real estate taxes and the ones who do pay taxes charge them off as expenses or add them to your bill.

But what about you, the person on a fixed income, retired, people in the low or middle income bracket, young people just getting started and trying to buy a home? Aren't they entitled to any consideration? Or is the plan to tax them more, so that their standard of living is reduced.

The Junior High School was sold on the basis of what it would cost you: 15° per $100 Valuation $15.00 on a $10,000 home.

The Board of Education has what they asked for. Let them run it as they sold it.

From a timing standpoint the question of any tax increase to support schools is bad. There are already numerous State Court decisions that the present methods of financing schools via local property taxes are illegal. These decisions are expected to form a pattern for most of the States. So, why raise taxes now, when a different method will be a must in the near future.

We are in favor of first class education for all children regardless of race, color, or creed and on an equal basis. But we are opposed to frills that don't

Certainly to meet any standards set either by the State of Missouri or the North Central Association you don't have to have "wall to wall carpeting, central air conditioning, or swimming pools." If the School Board is as hard up as they make it appear (they do have an extremely large surplus on hand)

why did they add these things that aren't essential? Remember, the School Board has all they asked for in order to get the bonds passed. Let's make them live up to their promises.

Many Uses For Computer Cards

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY - J.N. should take all those computer cards she has saved to the nearest elementary school. I have found dozens of uses for them in the schoolroom. They make vocabulary drill cards, sentence builders, number flash cards and patterns-to-trace cards. Folded as tents, they label science displays and serve as name cards for parent's night and for substitute teachers. I do not know how I got along before my mother brought me the first of many I have used - L.B.O.

DEAR POLLY and J.N. — I have an idea for using those many computer cards for making flowers or mirror frames. Cup the ends of each card (to make a point) and fasten with staples. Cut out a circle that is about 10 inches in diameter and begin stapling the cards around the edge of the circle. Make another circle of the shaped cards in about an inch or two from the edge of the first one and continue as you wish. I usually draw three or four concentric circles into the cardboard and use these for guides. Buy an inexpensive 6- to 7-inch round mirror that will make a perfect center for your computer card flower. - RHONDA

DEAR GIRLS — Even though she did not say so I feel sure Rhonda must spray paint her computer card flowers before attaching the mirror. - POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY - I cannot understand what I do that is wrong for azalea plants. The last one I received was on my birthday and in a month it was dead. Please, someone tell me how to care for them. I water mine just like any other house plant but they just dry up and die. — LILLIE

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is when more than two people visit the sick and not so sick in the hospital and then spend the time visiting with each other. They should meet in the waiting room and have their own talk that may not interest or may even annoy the patient. - E.S.

DEAR POLLY — When digging a hole in the yard for planting a tree or shrub, lay a paint drop cloth, tobacco sheet or something similar to the side of the hole and toss all the dirt on to it. When ready to refill the hole around the new plant all the dirt is in one place and the grass in the yard is not messed up. If there is too much dirt, what is leftover can be easily moved away. - MRS. N.P.

Delicate Apricot Pastries make an impressive dessert guests will enjoy while the hostess smiles knowingly. They are made with convenience foods such as pie crust mix, cream cheese and canned apricots. Ideal for a party, the apricot pastries also go well with ice cream or sherbert.

APRICOT PASTRIES

- 1 can (30 ounces) apricot halves, drained
- 1/2 cup sugar 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/8 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 package (10 ounces) pie
- crust mix 1 package (3 ounces)
- cream cheese, softened 1 tablespoon milk
- 1 egg yolk 1 tablespoon water

Puree apricots in electric blender or food mill. Blend sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Add apricot puree and lemon juice. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly; simmer one minute. Remove from heat and cool thoroughly.

Blend pie crust mix, cream cheese and milk with pastry blender. Divide dough in half Roll each part to a 10 x 12-inch rectangle on lightly floured surface. Cut into 2-inch squares; place on ungreased baking sheet. Place rounded teaspoon of apricot filling in center of each square. Moisten diagonal corners, then overlap at center to achieve diamond shapes. Beat egg yolk and water together; brush over pastries. Bake in 400-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 5 dozen tasty pastries.

McGovern and Wallace Appeal to 'Anti' Vote

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

DETROIT - I am in Michigan on the trail of the Hon. George Wallace, that preeminent burr beneath the Democrats' saddle, but plead your indulgence for one more look at the other George, the Hon. George S. McGovern. Wallace is important his primary record is the most astonishing aspect of the presidential race but McGovern in a sense is more important, if only because McGovern has some plausible chance of winning the White House and Wallace has none

What continues to amaze the correspondents, covering the Odd Couple, is the apparent inability or unwillingness of the voters to distinguish between the two. Every correspondent tells the same story: One falls into conversation with a barber, a cab driver, a waiter, a factory worker:

"Who you going to vote for?" "Wallace, I think."

"Yeah?"

"Or maybe McGovern. I dunno. One or

Doubtless we ought not to be amazed. Most of us tend to suppose, though we know better, that some rational link exists between the voter and what he wants on the one hand, and the candidate and what he stands for on the other. As often as not, such links are forged of straw. Voters will support a candidate for all kinds of reasons unrelated to the candidate's position on particular issues.

Even so, it is baffling that so many voters express a choice of Wallace "or McGovern." On most of the gut issues of this campaign, the two could not possibly be farther apart. Example: Busing. Second example: Welfare.

Presumably everyone knows where George Wallace stands on the business of busing school children in order to achieve racial balance. He is the one candidate, without equivocation, who is absolutely

But McGovern? He was interviewed in January by the Washington Post. He waffled, typically, with a cop-out answer on the need for quality schools, but his questioner persisted. Said McGovern: "Well, if I were President, I'd have no quarrel with the Supreme Court decision. I would do whatever was necessary to enforce it." Very well, asked the questioner, then you support busing for integration, per se? "Yes, I do," McGovern replied. "I think it's essential.

Everyone also knows, presumably, where Wallace stands on the general matter of public welfare. Nobody but nobody — not even Richard Nixon — has declaimed more fervently than Governor Wallace on the need for workfare instead of welfare. The Alabaman wants to cut all government spending; he has made a prime target of "all these handouts."

Where stands McGovern on welfare? He is the principal sponsor of the breathtaking proposal advanced by the National Welfare Rights Organization, which calls for welfare benefits to the typical family of four amounting to $6,500 in the next fiscal year. This compares with $2,400 in the administration's Family Assistance Plan.

According to a staff analysis prepared on April 24 for the Senate Finance Committee, 12 million persons now are eligible for benefits under the present law on Aid to Families with Dependent Children. The estimated federal cost for fiscal 1973 is $3.9 billion. Under the Nixon plan, 21 million persons would qualify at a starting cost of $5.5 billion.

If some of McGovern's unperceptive supporters will now hold onto their chairs: McGovern's bill (S. 2372) would make 97 million Americans eligible for AFDC payments, at an estimated cost for fiscal 73 of $64.4 billion.

In a speech at Iowa State University on January 13, McGovern advanced an alternative scheme to provide every family, regardless of its wealth, with an annual federal grant of perhaps $1,000 per person. The plan would be financed by a massive "redistribution of income," by which staggering taxes would be imposed on all families with earnings in excess of $12,000.

With McGovern out in front of the pack, in terms of first-ballot delegates, it is high time the voters were getting to know him. They already know George Wallace. The two gentlemen truly ought not to be

Welfare Critics On Top

Carl Rowan

WASHINGTON - It would be hard to find a more damning commentary on the shape of our society than the welfare mess that abounds.

messier in the weeks ahead as those social fossils in the Senate like Russell B. Long (D.-La.) set their vindictive hearts to proving that it is the poor, the sick, the halt who are to blame for the welfare abomination instead of the fat, gluttonous leaders who make the rules for this

And things will get

Sure there is something wrong when 14.8 million Americans receive welfare totaling $17.73 billion in 1971, a whopping 23 per cent jump from 1970.

There is something wrong with the recipients, to be sure - poor education, poor health, poor environment, helplessness of age.

But there is also something wrong with an immensely wealthy society where five million people who hunt jobs can't find

Obviously there is something wrong when 10.6 million people in families with dependent children receive $6.2 billion in welfare payments, a jump of $1.35 billion, or 27.8 per cent, in one year.

There is also something deeply wrong with a society that passes welfare laws which virtually drive people from rural areas to crowded cities and encourage men to desert their families because desertion is financially advantageous.

This is an election year, and it appears that some of the most shameful of all politicking will occur around efforts at welfare reform. Whereas two years ago it appeared the country was heading toward more enlightened approaches to welfare, it now seems that conservative forces are going to drag the nation into a period of penurious vindictiveness which will guarantee us another generation or two of frightful social consequences.

Three years ago the Nixon administration proposed a reform measure with a Family Assistance Plan that, as revised, would guarantee a minimum income of $2,400 for a family of four. This proposal seemed to ride on growing assumption that the whole economy would benefit, since poor families drag down the total of productivity and buying power, and that the guaranteed annual income would liberate much of society from the class conflict, hostility, crime and other disorders that flow out of widespread

This Nixon proposal would have helped the working poor, thus removing the incentive for welfare recipients to do

But that measure moved slowly. "I don't think the President believed in it." explains Sen. Abraham Ribicoff (D.-Conn.), a former secretary of health, education and welfare. "He was sold an idea that was a good idea but in his heart he didn't believe it was right."

The Nixon proposal has been altered drastically in hopes of pacifying the antiwelfare forces. The proposal sent to Congress in 1969 earmarked 68 per cent of the total costs of the bill for direct payments to families with children. The amended measure (HR1) allots only 18 per cent of the cost to families. The original proposal asked $2.1 billion for the working poor, but HR 1 revised this to

In both these "unpopular" categories there are many minority group families.

In the category of payments to aged, blind and disabled, federal costs would rise from 9 per cent to 26 per cent of the total under HR 1. This category is predominantly white.

So many regressive features have been put into HR 1 that the incentives to work have been virtually stripped from the Nixon bill. It has, in short, become a bad,

But not bad enough or mean enough to win the backing of Long or the Republicans on the Senate Finance Committee which voted 10 to 4 to replace the Nixon plan with an extremely harsh measure. The committee proposes to deny welfare to families without pre-school children. A mother or father without pre-school children would be forced to take a government make-work job at $1.20 an hour, or 40 cents an hour less than the minimum wage

"Slavefare" is Ribicoff's word for this bit of humanitarianism

Or, private industry would find a nice supply of cheap $1.20 labor, with government contributing 40 cents to bring pay up to the minimum level Administration spokesmen have attacked the Finance Committee proposal as "a $9 billion step backward ... into the leafraking schemes of the 1930s." The Washington Post calls it "a New Deal program gone insane.

What a sad spectacle that so many affluent, well-stuff Americans should deovte so much effort to cursing and damning les miserables of this society and so little effort to exploring ways to change the system so we produce fewer families that know only hunger and harassment.

feels an obligation at this time to point out several erroneous and misleading statements in these ads which could change the outcome of Tuesday's vital election.

In Friday's ad, signed by Mrs. W.N. Luther, 714 East Fifth, it was stated that if property is worth $10,000, the 65-cent levy increase would cost the taxpayer $80 a year. This simply is not true.

Under Pettis County assessment procedures, property is assessed at 30 to 33 per cent of its true value, so that a $10,000 house is actually assessed at under $3,500. If such a house is assessed at one-third its value, the Tuesday levy increase would total $21.45, not $80 as stated in the ad.

In fact, the figure in the ad implies that the $80 tax would be entirely new. The author of the ad apparently is lumping together the 15-cent increase approved two years ago to build the junior high school and the 65-cent operating levy hike requested Tuesday. Both taxes were added together and falsely figured on real property value, rather than assessed valuation.

Mrs. Luther also charges in the ads running under her signature that "frills" such as airconditioning, carpeting and a swimming pool are included in the levy. These costs were covered in the March 24, 1970 building bond issue, and are not part of Tuesday's proposed increase. School District 200 patrons have been paying for these facilities, described by educators as necessary to provide an appealing classroom situation and teach vital water safety courses.

Repeatedly the charge is also made that voters were not told two years ago that the 15-cent building levy for the new junior high school would not be adequate to staff and

25 Years Ago

A vote on a bond issue of $29,000 was passed unanimously by a vote of 223 to 0 and high school that burned last February

Advertisements have appeared in run the school. This is an absurd The Democrat-Capital during the charge. The 1970 building levy was last three days before the election, just that-a levy to BUILD the new in opposition to the proposed 65- junior high, which can be cent levy increase to be voted on eliminated after the bonds are paid off. School officials never In the interest of community maintained that a building levy service. The Democrat-Capital could do the work of an operating levy, and the reason this wasn't shouted from the rooftops is that it is so clearly obvious.

> In the Sunday ad, directed at elderly, fixed-income families, Mrs. Luther questions the "surplus" in school board funds. She actually refers to the teacher reserve fund, which is explained fully in the conclusion of The Democrat-Capital's "Education Tax" series appearing in this edition. That article also explains the need for the alleged "frills." and exactly where the 65-cent increase will be spent. We urge all voters to carefully read this article to gain an accurate picture of the financial details of the levy hike. which have been clouded through some misleading statements

This deep concern for the cost of the increased operating levy becomes even more curious when one considers the cost of the antilevy advertising placed by Mrs. Luther. She claims that she alone has paid for the advertising, which also includes one anti-levy ad placed April 2, just before the levy defeat on April 4.

The Pettis County assessor's office informed The Democrat-Capital Friday that the assessed valuation of the William Luther property at 714 East Fifth is $2,160. That means the land and house market value is between $6,500 and $7,200. This assessed valuation is somewhat lower than the estimated $2,900 average assessed valuation for residential property in Sedalia, determined for a recent bond election.

Applying the 65-cent levy hike to the Luther property results in about $14 a year in additional taxes.

If the cost of the advertising Mrs. Luther claims she paid for were applied to her increased taxes should the Tuesday levy be passed. it would take care of her new tax burden for about 34 years, or through the year 2006.

Soviet Hawks Oppose Detente With U.S.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Secret intelligence reports declare that President Nixon's highrisk military moves in Vietnam have undermined those in both Moscow and Peking who want to ease tensions with the United States

Although there had been no visible opposition to the President's trip to Peking and invitation to visit Moscow, the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) claims the detente was fiercely resisted inside the policy councils of both governments.

To protect our sources, we cannot quote directly from the CIA documents. The CIA maintains, however, that the decision to invite Nixon was by no means unanimous in Moscow or Peking.

Citing "reliable" sources, the CIA claims the Soviet military hierarchy has opposed doing business with Nixon. Defense Minister Andrei Grechko, apparently, has become principal spokesman for this faction inside the Kremlin

The Russian marshals, according to the CIA, are eager to share credit in Hanoi for the North Vietnamese successes. For the military equipment, which has smashed the South Vietnamese defenses, was made

The Soviets, in the bidding against the Chinese for influence in Hanoi, had offered the North Vietnamese a $110 million military loan. General Vo Nguyen Giap. the North Vietnamese military genius decided to spend it for tanks, heavy artillery and anti-aircraft missiles.

The Soviet military brass would like to see a setback for U.S. interests not only in Vietnam but the Middle East. The CIA warns that the Russians may counter U.S. moves in Vietnam with new initiatives in the Mediterranean.

The CIA offers fewer specifics about the opposition within the Chinese leadership to the Chinese-American detente. But bitter opposition, says the CIA, is simmering beneath the surface

We told, for example, how Laird himself uses military cars as his personal Yuletide delivery service. Boxes of Christmas cheese are distributed by military drivers each Christmas to friends and associates of the Big Cheese himself

A couple of days after our report appeared, a snappy woman in military uniform arrived in my office bearing a gaily decorated box of cheese. "To Jack Anderson," Laird had written on the box. "Sorry I missed you on the Christmas run." It was signed, "The Big Cheese.

Laird, meanwhile, still has two limousines at his constant call in case one should develop motor trouble. His special assistant, Carl Wallace, is also picked up each morning and delivered home each evening by a military chauffeur.

So, military vehicles continue, for example, to bring in large quantities of liquor from the Pentagon's Washington supplier so there will be plenty to serve to thirsty congressmen when they attend a military reception or take a military flight.

The fact that such trips involve an apparently illegal transportation of liquor across the Virginia border from Washington doesn't bother the Pentagon

Editor's Mail Think Before Saying No

If I were planning on voting "no" on the school levy, I would have to ask myself these questions:

1. Did my parents or someone care enough about my education to do all they could to help provide it for me?

2. What is my motive? Selfish? Do I want that small amount of money it would cost me to spend on myself instead of helping hundreds? Revenge? I didn't want the junior high school in that location, and so I am against everything connected with it?

3. Do I really have the right to deny over 4,000 little children the preparation they humored reaction from Defense Secretary need in kindergarten for first grade, or 400 use all their lives?

young people vocational training they will

4. Would I be willing to put myself in the teachers' place of teaching twice as many students as I should, thereby denying them of individual help and attention they

5. Am I voting "no" as a vote against the school board? (This levy is not a vote against or for the school board, but a vote against or for our children of Sedalia.)

Please, voters, before you cast a "no" vote, weigh your reponsibility.

While circling the bases, Mays said his thoughts drifted back to his rookie year. 'My first hit as a Giant was a homer," said Mays. "I remembered that we won the pennant that year, in 1951. My first hit as a Met was a homer. I felt that maybe we'd win the pennant this year. That's what I was thinking.

Mays got a standing ovation from the crowd of 35,505 when he first stepped to the plate against San Francisco starter Sam McDowell. He walked.

'It was wonderful to hear the crowd," said the Mets' 41-yearold first baseman. "But I'm glad I walked. It could have been a different game if I didn't walk.

It no doubt would have been a different game, for after Mays walked, Sudden Sam was wild as the wind and issued walks to Bud Harrelson and Tommie Agee to set the table Dick McAuliff's two-run for Staub.

from a high of 18 to a low of about 12.5.

The P-E ratio recently, based on current prices, was only 15.9, "the lowest earnings multiple in over 15 months." But the stock market lives in the future. The outlook, based on estimates of future earnings, is much more attractive.

It foresees corporate earnings gains of 14.7 per cent over 1971. which would mean that the P-E ratio would be only 12.5 or 13 by the end of the year if market prices remain right where they are now.

Such an extreme low is unlikely, in SDS's estimate. More likely, it feels, is that the P-E ratio will adjust itself to the higher expectations. And such an adjustment would automatically mean higher stock prices.

-Rapid expansion of the money supply since January indicates growth may accelerate through 1972 and well into 1973. -Indications that the rise in the consumer price index may be decelerating. Like many individuals, the market has learned not to expect ideal conditions but to cull the good news as if it were gold, to be satisfied with a few rays of sunshine rather than a

let's provide for

their educational

needs!

We believe most of us when we were growing up were repeatedly cautioned that, "You can't run away from your responsibilities."

We hope you'll agree, the time has come for us to face up to our responsibility as it concerns the future education of our school children.

Let's reason it out with a sober, straightforward look at our community's educational needs.

For many years the Sedalia School System maintained an AAA rating. We faltered in our responsibilities during the last few years, and this rating was taken from us two years ago.

We recognize the need to catch up, so we built a new Junior High School to take care of our 7th and 8th grade students; to open rooms in other schools to accommodate state required kindergarten training for our smaller pre-grade children, and to make space available for vocational-technical training at Smith-Cotton High School.

During the campaign to build the new Junior High we were told that an increase in the levy would undoubtedly be necessary to provide for the additional staff needed to operate it. Those needs have been analyzed by the members of the Board of Education and the minimum requirement has been placed at 65 cents, which we will vote on tomorrow, Tuesday, May 16th.

Here in capsule form is what your favorable vote will help to accomplish:

- 1. Provide the needed teaching staff at the new Junior High School.
- 2. Provide facilities and staff for kindergarten education for our pregrade children, as is now required by state law.
- 3. Provide for vocational-technical training for our junior and senior high school students, who may not plan a college education, so they may begin preparatory training for worthwhile careers in the business, industrial and service sectors of our economy.
- 4. Provide for a quality education for all of our students so our Sedalia School System may again take its place among those schools in our state maintaining high standards for an AAA rating.

One of the greatest assets of any community probably the greatest asset of all—is the young people in it. They are the hope of the future, and the responsibility for their future is our responsibility today.

Surely, no one in this school district would approve of a second rate school system or a second rate education, for our young people. So, please remember, the children concerned in the outcome of this school election are here today. Their needs must be answered now if their opportunity for a good education is to be fulfilled.

The fall school term opens September 5th.

We have the opportunity and responsibility to correct the situation as it now exists, and if you as a concerned citizen will join with mothers and fathers, older sisters and brothers, aunts and uncles, and grandmothers and grandfathers there can be only one answer tomorrow, May 16th. That answer will be an overwhelming approval for the school levy and a conclusive demonstration of your responsibility for the future of our community's young people.

GIVE OUR CHILDREN THEIR CHANCE TO COMPETE IN TODAY'S WORLD.... Vote Yes for the Levy Tomorrow-Tuesday, May 16th.

In the interest of better education for our commuity's youth, this message is prepared, sponsored and paid for by the following firms and individuals:
